#BUILDEXVancouver

BUILDEX Vancouver is where the industry's top thinkers, veterans, and leading suppliers gather to share transformative ideas, pioneering projects, and cutting-edge products that are driving the built environment forward.

BUILDEX Purpose

BUILDEX is the forum connecting the holistic building community, uniting tradition and innovation to shape the spaces of our tomorrow.

BUILDEX Mission

To provide a space that connects the whole building industry, providing education, sourcing, inspiration, and networking through event that is not just a conference and trade show, but a driver and facilitator of industry progress.

Territorial Acknowledgement

BUILDEX Vancouver takes place on land that is the unceded territories of the x̱m̱əθḵ'əy̱əm (Musqueam), Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish), and Səlilwətał (Tsleil-Waututh) Nations. It is important for us, the event organizers to recognize the people whom this place belongs — as settlers we are guests on this land. Acknowledging that colonialism and systematic racism persist today, let us recognize the professional and creative practices that reflect the diversity and vibrancy of the many nations that gather here, and let this work support our collective change, healing and growth.

9,000+ Industry Professionals

350+ Leading Manufacturers, Suppliers and Service Providers

200+ Industry Speakers

2 Days

1 Investment

BUILDEX Vancouver gives you the opportunity to join Western Canada's leading design, construction and real estate professionals as they access the transformative ideas and cutting-edge products changing our built environment.

This year, we are delighted to deliver a brand-new collaboration with the Canadian Wood Council, WoodWorks at BUILDEX, integrating WoodWorks' technical expertise and wood products industry representation into BUILDEX Vancouver. This initiative builds on our shared commitment to advancing Canada's built environment and expands BUILDEX's focus on innovative materials, design, and construction practices.

As part of our commitment to continually evolve BUILDEX's offering to our attendees and clients, this year you will find a raft of new show features. These include the Innovation and Networking Hub, Contech Showcase, Speed Networking, and a diverse range of partner-led events designed to foster collaboration and discovery.

While our industry remains optimistic, we recognize that familiar challenges and new uncertainties shape the market. Despite this, the BUILDEX team is committed to delivering an industry leading exhibition and robust educational conference program, providing you with the sourcing opportunities, inspiration, connections and continuing education essential for your business' success.

Join us in 2025 as we adapt to change, embrace innovation, and build smarter.

T53 – The Future of Tall: The Future of Cities

Thursday, Feb. 27 • 2:45pm – 3:45pm

Tall buildings have enjoyed a major uptake in almost all major cities globally in the last few decades. But are they – and the push for greater urban density – creating habitats and patterns of life that are truly sustainable in terms of social, cultural, and economic sustainability, as well as the carbon equation? This presentation outlines areas where the typology, and cities as a whole, need to develop, introducing a number of exemplars from around the world.

How do buildings make us feel?
How can they make us feel better?

PRESENTING PARTNER

Interior Designers Institute of BC

Through research at the emerging intersection of neuroscience and architecture, this session will explore how our mind, and its various sensory systems, interacts with our built environment to enhance or harm our health and well-being. By bridging the gap in knowledge between the therapeutic medical world and the design community, the speaker will reveal how the intentional shaping of our environment can support our physical and neurological well-being through recent discoveries in cognitive psychology (the science of the mind) and neuroscience (the science of the brain).

NEW FOR 2025

Smart Solutions for Less Carbon ZEIC
ZERO EMISSIONS INNOVATION CENTRE
MORE SOLUTIONS. LESS CARBON.

Wed., Feb. 26 • 9:00am – 3:30pm
Thu., Feb. 27 • 9:00am – 3:30pm

NEW for 2025! Provincial and municipal regulations are making new buildings more energy-efficient, climate-resilient and climate-friendly, with the focus now shifting to existing assets. Whether you’re working on new or existing buildings, large or small buildings, operational or embodied emissions, the Smart Solutions for Less Carbon has something to offer all professions of the building industry. Join eight sessions in this stream provided by ZEBx, B2E, CLF BC and the BCRA, all building decarbonization programs of the Zero Emissions Innovation Centre (ZEIC), to stay on top of the changes.

T25 – Engineering Keynote: Advancing Decarbonization and Climate Resilience in Trying Times

Thu., Feb. 27 • 11:45am – 12:45pm

Historic heat waves, wildfires, and floods cost B.C. up to CAD 17 billion annually. While owners and officials respond to the crises, high costs and political uncertainty threaten project viability. With buildings responsible for 39% of global carbon emissions, decarbonizing the built environment is key to Canada’s 2030 and 2050 climate goals. This expert panel will share fiscally responsible strategies and best practices that don’t neglect climate action goals.

Property managers and building operations already had their plates full with a shrinking workforce and more complex assets. Now, new client, tenant and regulatory expectation continue the push buildings to be more sustainable, affordable and technology rich. Find a host of presenting partners delivering the latest insight and updates from the sector, at BUILDEX.

PAMA Luncheon

Wed., Feb. 26 • 11:30am to 1:00pm

Join PAMA at BUILDEX for a PAMA Luncheon where we will feature an exclusive interview with two extraordinary leaders in the property management industry. Lyn Stoll and Nizam Dossa are our Lifetime Achievement Award winners having demonstrated unparalleled commitment, vision, and influence throughout their careers in the property management industry. During this insightful conversation, they will share personal stories, career highlights, and lessons learned.

This is a unique opportunity to learn from the best, celebrate their incredible accomplishments, and connect with others in the industry.

The construction industry faces both new and familiar challenges in 2025. Workforce numbers, infrastructure investment, municipal regulatory policies and lack of prompt payment legislation continue to hang over the industry, while the threat of trade tariffs and economic slowdown provide additional uncertainty. Find the insights, connections, and solutions at BUILDDEX to help navigate these testing times.

PRESENTING PARTNER

Interior Designers Institute of BC

How do buildings make us feel?
How can they make us feel better?

Through research at the emerging intersection of neuroscience and architecture, this session will explore how our mind, and its various sensory systems, interacts with our built environment to enhance or harm our health and well-being. By bridging the gap in knowledge between the therapeutic medical world and the design community, the speaker will reveal how the intentional shaping of our environment can support our physical and neurological well-being through recent discoveries in cognitive psychology (the science of the mind) and neuroscience (the science of the brain).
