MSc Criminal Intelligence:

Student Testimonial

Q: Overall, how has your experience been studying with Liverpool John Moores University & Informa Connect Academy?

I have found the material and resources at LJMU and Informa Connect Academy to be substantive. The navigation is efficient, and I have been grateful to have access to a robust library of information. My overall experience has been great, and I have learnt easier due to the structure.

Q: How have you found the Criminal Intelligence programme specifically?

The Criminal Intelligence programme is fantastic. It provides a great hybrid of theory and applied skills. Allowing one flexibility to engage with personal interests whilst challenging the way one operates, and thinks has been imperative to my growth. I have learned a great deal about the nexus of geopolitics, systems and institutions, and the overall actions of a sound decision-maker and analyst. The professors have been excellent, ready, knowledgeable, and experienced in operations, providing a sound platform and foundation.

Q: What key takeaways and skills have you taken from the course?

I have found the course to have added a breadth of hard and soft skills. I have become a far more apt researcher and have been able to leverage the knowledge points well in my own career as an Intelligence Analyst. Being able to also balance my career through the independency and flexibility has been fantastic, especially as a Canadian.

Q: How has this course added to your professional development?

It has undoubtedly contributed to my professional development by providing opportunities to apply critical thinking and embark on novel paths to help synthesize with my career. It has also developed my skills in analytical writing and leadership in the field, giving me real expertise and allowing me to question and evoke liberty in thought.

"The use of criminal intelligence and information is essential to both public and private sector organisations in their ongoing effort to identify, disrupt and prosecute crime, disorder and target serious and organised crime. However, these threats are ever-changing and accordingly, those charged with the management of intelligence must continually adapt, innovate and evolve if they are to successfully respond to current and emerging threats.

I welcome your interest in this ground-breaking course and I look forward to welcoming you as a student to study the ever-changing fields in Security."
